Get online and play Recycle and Reward

Learn more about recycling and raise money for local charities

There's still time to play our online recycling game Recycle and Reward where you can test your knowledge of our recycling scheme and we give money to a local charity – and it won't cost you a penny! And the more you recycle, the more the charities will benefit.

All you need to do is log on to www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/recycleandreward where you can play a short game showing us how you recycle different items of rubbish.

You can then select one of 13 local charities which will receive a £1 donation from us. It doesn't matter if you're unsure of where to put some items in our weekly scheme as we'll put you right and the chosen charity still gets £1.

Your chosen charity could get up to £4 just by you playing the game and making sure you recycle your waste correctly over the coming months, as bonuses will be paid if recycling and composting from pink sacks, blue boxes and green bins goes up and general waste in black sacks goes down. Only one entry per house or flat in Milton Keynes is permitted.

The funding for the scheme has come from the Department for Communities and Local Government. If you don't have a computer you can still play the game and do your bit for local charities as we've set up a dedicated phone line – the number is 0300 003 0028 charged at local rate, so give it a call.

Local charities you can support

Here are the 13 local causes which benefit when you play Recycle and Reward – please make sure you choose one of them to receive our donation when playing the game as we don't want any to miss out.

Mum pays tribute to 'amazing' daughter

BY CHRIS KNIGHT

chris.knight@onemk.co.uk

A MOTHER has paid tribute to her 'amazing' daughter and thanked the community for their support after her unexpected death.

Louise Garrard, 31, a mother-of-four from Tinkers Bridge, passed away on March 8 after suffering sudden breathing difficulties.

The cause of her death is unknown following an inconclusive post-mortem and mum Jean has this week paid a moving tribute to her daughter.

She said: "Louise was the most brilliant and devoted mum – that's all she wanted to be in life.

"She was always the life and soul of the party – when she became comfortable with you, it was not a party without her.

"She was just amazing – she held our family together."

Following Louise's death, support has flooded in from the community for husband Dan and their four sons Jamie, 13, Thomas, six, Bobby, four, and five-month-old Freddie.

Louise's friends set up a Crowdfunding page and at the time of going to print almost £5,500 had been raised for the family.

While Jean insists no amount of money will replace Louise, she says the response to the appeal has been 'overwhelming'.

She added: "I thought it was wonderful when Louise's friends set the page up. I can't believe how many people have been so generous, it really melts your heart.

"People who don't even know Louise have been touched by this tragic story and donated."

News of Louise's death came as a 'devastating' shock to Sarah Leach, who had been friends with her since secondary school.

Tragic: Louise Garrard on her wedding day to Dan, below, and with their four children

After setting the page up to raise £6,000 for the family and provide for Louise's children, Sarah has been stunned by the response.

She added: "It was incredible – in less than 48 hours, we had already raised more than £4,000.

"Even anonymous donations from people who didn't know Louise have been so generous – we are overwhelmed with the response.

"It strengthens your belief in humanity and proves how the community can pull together."

A service for Louise will be held at Crownhill Crematorium at 10am on Wednesday, March 30.

Nurse struck off after patient is restrained

A NURSE has been struck off after she restrained a patient against her will while she was injected with anti-psychotic medication.

Betty Kasolo Nanteza was a registered nurse at Milton Keynes Community Health Service at the time of the incident and after being suspended for 12 months, on March 10 the Nursing and Midwifery Council ordered her to be struck off.

At roughly 6.45pm on April 5, 2011, Ms Nanteza 'inappropriately restrained' the patient without her consent, while she was injected with Haloperidol – an anti-psychotic drug that is injected into the buttocks.

A statement from the Nursing and Midwifery Council said: "This panel recognised that Ms Nanteza's failings were serious and involved basic nursing practice."

"In some instances her shortcomings put patients at significant risk of harm."

Ms Nanteza received an 18-month conditions of practice order in September 2013, as well as the 12-month suspension order in March 2015.

The striking off order will take effect from April 30, 2016.

Ms Nanteza has not worked as a registered nurse since January 2012 and would have to allow five years before applying for restoration as a nurse.

Warning at dog deaths

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

THE death of two eight-week-old puppies from a contagious disease and an increase in dogs suffering from a tick-borne condition has prompted warnings from vets.

Emma Pillow from Greensands Vets in Woburn Sands has reported two deaths and a suspected case of parvovirus in the city, which led her to call for pet owners to check their dog's vaccination status.

"We haven't seen any dogs with suspected parvovirus in the surgery for the past two years so when three cases came in in quick succession, alarm bells started ringing," said Emma.

"When buying a puppy it is also very important to check the mother's vaccination record, as an unprotected mother will not pass on essential antibodies against canine parvovirus disease to her puppies."

Parvovirus is transmitted through infected dog faeces so animals kept in crowded conditions may be at greater risk of contracting the disease. It is extremely contagious and is often fatal.

The virus may be passed on to cats, ferrets and mink. It is seen in any age of dog from around four weeks of age but is most common in dogs less than a year old.

Ann Corbett bought her puppy, Teddy, from a breeder in Blackpool.

The Labradoodle became poorly within a few days of his arrival and tested positive for parvovirus. Despite treatment he very sadly died from the effects of the disease.

Mrs Corbett said: "We are extremely grateful for everything our vets did for Teddy on our behalf. Please check that your dog is properly vaccinated – if it can stop just one family experiencing what we did then it will have done a good job."

Meanwhile, OneMK has been speaking to its Pets4Vets columnist Dr Amy Converse about the recent news that three dogs have been infected and one has died from a tick disease.

Dog owners across the UK and particularly in the south are being warned about Canine Babesiosis, which was only previously found abroad but is now believed to be in the UK.

Dr Converse's top tips include buying tick spot treatments, being extra vigilant and checking dogs after walking in woodland and rocky areas, not pulling out ticks if you spot them as tick's heads can remain in the dogs and not using Vaseline to remove ticks or trying to burn or pull them off.

'Waste centre won't be noisy'

BY CHRIS KNIGHT

chris.knight@onemk.co.uk

A CONTROVERSIAL waste transfer centre that has been granted planning permission will not be a noisy eyesore – according to the company behind the plan.

Mick George Ltd had an initial application for the Cotton Valley Sewage Works site by Willen Lake rejected in June 2015 on the grounds it would create 'unacceptable noise' for nearby residents and Willen Hospice.

But after reviewing the application and moving operations on the site further inwards and scrapping a proposed concrete crusher, the company's latest application was last night approved by Milton Keynes Council.

Jon Stump, finance director for Mick George, said: "Our operations are definitely not noisy."

"Willen Hospice will definitely not hear anything and the station will be in keeping with the buildings, which are already next to the lake."

More than 8,600 people had signed a petition on change.

Councillor Sam Crooks presented the petition at the development control committee meeting and said he felt there were more suitable sites in the city for the development.

He added: "For me, Willen is the jewel of Milton Keynes."

Paul Hinson, chief executive of Willen Hospice, said: "We have concerns about any development that would adversely affect the serenity for our patients."

The application was granted permission after a vote of six to three.

Animal cruelty stats revealed

A TOTAL OF 582 complaints of animal cruelty were made in the city last year, according to the RSPCA.

The charity's annual cruelty statistics were released today and 1,724 complaints of cruelty were made in Buckinghamshire in 2015 – 926 of which were concerns about the treatment of dogs.

Jim Lucas, chief inspector for the RSPCA, said: "582 complaints is quite a significant figure."

"But for a pretty large city it comes out reasonably well and last year we only had two cases that led to prosecution through the courts."

Dutch volleyball star jailed

A DUTCH international beach volleyball player who was due to go to Rio 2016 was jailed for four years on Monday for raping a 12-year-old girl at Furzton Lake.

Steven Van de Velde was sentenced at Aylesbury Crown Court via a video link from Woodhill Prison.

The court was told that the two met through Facebook before he travelled to Milton Keynes on Saturday, August 2, 2014, when Van de Velde was 19.

Van de Velde, of Westeinde 46, Voorburg, was extradited and arrested in January 2016. He pleaded guilty to three charges of raping a child on February 8.

He will be on the sex offender register for life and will be deported at the end of his sentence.

Happy to pay for services

LAST week I received a mailshot from the leader of Milton Keynes Council in which he stated that, despite further cuts in funding from central government, no library in Milton Keynes will close, every children's centre will remain open, new council houses will be built, adult social care will improve and new schools will be built.

In order to fund this, council tax is set to rise by 1.95 per cent.

I seldom use public libraries, I don't have any children and I own my own home, so all I can say is what a bargain!

In a civilised society, tax is levied so that we can all contribute towards supporting each other – it is a mutual network.

If our council can continue to maintain good services, despite the punitive cuts being imposed by this dogma-driven government, then more power to them.

So we are being asked to contribute more during these straitened times in order to preserve the things that matter; well, so be it – I would rather things be a little tighter now than have to explain to future generations why we abandoned what our ancestors had built and surrendered the future in order to satisfy the vanity of an ideologically-infatuated chancellor.

Indeed, I'd happily pay more to protect the things we hold dear.

If we surrender our culture and our history then it is gone forever; it will never be the same when and if we can ever afford to attempt its recreation.

We need to look to the future and maintain our city as the cultural hub that it is – a place for youth and education, arts and creativity. That's worth paying for.

Relieve GP pressure

THE article by Philip McEleney in the March 9 edition highlights what is a serious and growing problem GP surgeries across Milton Keynes are facing.

Already, some surgeries have closed their books to new patients and those that are still accepting patients are very close to the point where they too will, reluctantly, have to stop accepting new patients.

Far too often, planners do not take into account the demands on existing services that new housing developments create. This is not only on GP surgeries, but also on Milton Keynes University Hospital.

How long will it be before the NHS Milton Keynes Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) wakes up and responds to these demands?

It is a very weak response to say that 'surrounding practices will take on new patients' when by so doing, the service offered to existing patients at those practices will be further degraded because of the unreasonable waiting times to see a GP or practice nurse of choice.

It is, of course, not just a local problem, but one which is mirrored nationally and is not going to improve until the extra number of GPs being funded by the government graduate through training. Simply doing nothing is not an option.

Yes, extended surgery opening hours may offer some solution to pinch points, but this needs to be at times when those that work can attend.

This will inevitably mean weekend surgeries – something that the British Medical Association is in dispute with the government about so is not going to happen any time soon.

Another might be to penalise patients who make appointments to see their GP and do not attend without reasonable excuse on a three strikes and you're out principle.

At most surgeries this is a big problem as by not attending for their appointment, patients are wasting GPs' time, which could be used for others.

Patients themselves could also do more to relieve pressures on surgeries by making use of other sources of medical help such as pharmacists for non-urgent problems.

All this requires a fully joined-up solution that encompasses planners ensuring that new housing developments do not go ahead without some provision for new GP surgeries and the CCG providing the funding for these to open.

Your messages about the parking charges being increased near the market on our Facebook page /OneMKNews

Yvonne Phillips: That doesn't surprise me. Money grabbing council. Such a shame for the hard-working people just trying to make a living. I try to avoid the city centre because of this. All MK residents should have free parking.

Christine Bonner Robb: Haven't been for years. Too much of the same thing and most stuff is cheaper in supermarkets and there's no parking charges.

Barry Matthews: The days of the market are dying out – in about 20 years time there won't be any.

Lolly Dean: I go to the market and city centre a lot less since they put the parking prices up behind the market. I used to always park there. Rarely go now. Would prefer to buy on line or go where there's free or low cost parking than pay that ridiculous price.

Shireen Hall: There are too many stalls selling the same type of things. It's nowhere near as good as it used to be there.

Natalie O'Reilly: Judging by how busy the city always is, especially at weekends, I don't think people care how much they pay to park.

Jackie Isbell: The reason market costs have gone down is because of what's on offer, not the parking costs.

Chris Bell: I think if people really wanted to go to the market they would immaterial of parking charges. Over the years I have lived in Milton Keynes the market has gone way downhill. I don't bother going to it I just walk through it!

Hospital's test for mums-to-be

Spreading awareness: Katie Elmer with Emily, who inspired the charity after living for four days

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@onemk.co.uk

A MOTHER was brought to tears when Milton Keynes University Hospital announced it will now be screening expectant mums for a serious genetic condition.

Katie Elmer, founder of city-based charity Emily's Star, recently met with screening midwife Louise Nichol after a new information booklet was released confirming the hospital will be screening for Edwards' Syndrome, also known as Trisomy 18, which is caused by an additional copy of chromosome 18.

"I just cried as it is very rare to see it written for all parents to see," said the 30-year-old from Bancroft.

"I felt both fantastic as it is what our charity is raising awareness of but I also felt upset as it reminded me of the shock I went through with Emily.

"Baby loss is a taboo subject and it is often too hidden and not talked about."

Expectant mums going to their 12-week scan will have their babies tested for Trisomy 18.

The combined test, which includes a blood test and an ultrasound scan, also tests for other chromosome abnormalities Down's Syndrome and Patau's.

Miss Elmer added: "When they told me Emily had Trisomy 18 and only had four days to live I was just shocked and asked them if it was a joke because I had never heard of it before.

"I don't want others to go through the pain I went through and I want them to be prepared and know their options."

Ms Nichol said: "It was a pleasure to meet with Katie - Emily's Star is a great source for raising awareness of Trisomy 18.

"We can offer eligible women the opportunity to assess the risk of Down's Syndrome, Edwards' and Patau's syndromes.

"Those assessed as being at an increased risk are then offered appropriate diagnostic testing and planned care according to their wishes."

SIZZLING Grillz takeaway has been named the fifth best in the UK by Hungryhouse.

A total of 11,000 takeaways were surveyed and the outlet, based in Elder House, bagged a coveted spot in the top 10.

Hungryhouse, the online food ordering platform, used an algorithm to rank Britain's takeaways, based on factors such as restaurant popularity, customer reviews, star ratings, return rates and hygiene ratings.

Ambience in Wimbledon was crowned the winner and Thai Sabai in Leeds and Cafe Zecchino in Glasgow rounded out the top three.

Director Dawn Allen hopes the swing, in Chestow Park, West Bletchley, could be the start of MK's first sensory park for children of all abilities.

She said: "When Henry was very poorly, he was unable to get out of his wheelchair as the tumours were too painful. Our little man missed the park, especially the swings.

"Our vision was to always try and get a swing in Henry's favourite place."

The money from Tesco was raised from the 5p bag charge.

Donations taken by cafe thieves

Community: Cafe owner Rachel Burgon is pleased donations have flooded in for Jenson Belkevitz

BY CHRIS KNIGHT

chris.knight@onemk.co.uk

A COMMUNITY has rallied together to replace donations for a boy with an extremely rare disease after a charity tin was stolen.

The Drop Off Cafe in Wordsworth Avenue, Newport Pagnell, is raising money for Batten Disease Family Association on behalf of Jenson Belkevitz, eight, who lives in the town and suffers from the degenerative brain disorder.

Batten Disease is a terminal illness that causes severe neurological impairment.

And after the cafe was broken into by three men in ski masks at about 1am on Sunday, owner Rachel Burgon was horrified to find that as well as cash and an iPad, the charity tin was gone.

She said: "Everyone in the community is feeling a bit violated as somebody has come into the area we live and taken these things. It is outrageous and taking the charity tin was the lowest of the low."

Mrs Burgon posted news of the break-in on community Facebook pages and people have reacted quickly to replace the stolen donations.

Harrison James Financial Planners (HJFP), in Stony Stratford, generously handed over £60 and several regular cafe customers have also visited and contributed to the cause.

Mrs Burgon said: "The reaction hasn't surprised me because I know the type of people who live around here, but the community rallying to help has been a lovely thing for them to do."

Paul Cox, managing director of HJFP, added: "I know about the community spirit in the area - people tend to rally around in these situations and replacing the money seemed the right thing to do."

Police are investigating and anyone with information should contact 101.

Proposal for sports facilities on agenda

PLANS for new sports facilities to be built on an existing car park in Central Milton Keynes have been recommended for approval.

The proposal aims to construct a sports pavilion - complete with changing rooms, kitchen, club room, toilets and a store room - as well as a multi-use 3G sports pitch in Elder Gate.

Two disabled parking spaces and two minibus spots would be provided as part of an on-site car park.

The plan was due to be discussed by councillors last night. Visit onemk.co.uk for the reaction.

Safety talk after fire death

SENIOR officers from Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue Service gave safety advice and reassurance to residents on Monday night after a man died following a fire.

Alan Ware, 66, of Fishermead Boulevard, died in what firefighters believe was a chip pan fire in his kitchen earlier this month. A moment's silence was held ahead of the Fishermead Residents' Association meeting where fire officers gave advice on how to make homes safer and what to do in the event of a fire.

Office makeover may cost £10m

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

QUESTIONS have been raised over how much it will cost to refurbish Milton Keynes Council's main office.

This newspaper revealed in July 2015 that the council is planning to spend almost £6million refurbishing the Civic Office in Silbury Boulevard so it can move all its staff into one building.

The Conservatives plan to put forward a motion at tonight's council meeting urging Labour to rethink its decision to blow taxpayers' money on a refurb – at a time when the city is facing a homeless crisis and funding is being withdrawn from front-line services.

The group also claims it will cost more like £10million to change the office because of other costs associated with the redevelopment, including temporary accommodation and rumours it could cost between £1million and £2million to sort out the air conditioning.

Cllr Hiten Ganatra, the Conservative spokesman for finance, said: "I estimate that

"This money would be better spent on other projects, including regeneration."
Cllr Edith Bald, MK Conservative leader

the payback period of the works will be at least 12 years. This is an appalling waste and does not represent good value for money.

"As a businessman, I wouldn't do this if this was my money."

Conservative leader Cllr Edith Bald added: "Since this proposal was raised, in July 2015, we have been raising questions about the sense behind it.

"This money would be better spent on numerous other projects, including regeneration in Bletchley."

But Cllr Rob Middleton, cabinet member responsible for resources and commercialism, said he stood by the £6million figure this newspaper was told last year.

"From what I can surmise this is an estimate and the present figure forecast is £6million," he said.

"The works are designed to reduce the number of buildings we have in the city centre from two to one.

"Clearly having one building rather than two will reduce overheads substantially and it's a cost-saving initiative but I am happy for the council to have a closer look at this."

Player's apology impresses boss

A spray at the races: Samir Carruthers

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

MK DONS' manager says he has been impressed by the way one of his players accepted his punishment after pictures emerged of him urinating into a glass at a horse racing festival.

Samir Carruthers found himself on the front pages of national newspapers on Wednesday after he was snapped on the balcony of a VIP box at Cheltenham Festival last Tuesday.

Following a meeting with Dons' chairman Pete Winkelman and boss Karl Robinson, the midfielder was fined two weeks wages and suspended for the home tie against Brighton on Saturday – which was also the club's annual family fun day.

He also issued his own apology.

Karl said: "Everybody has seen his actions and there is the complete disappointment in what he has done and he understands as a professional footballer that it is a conduct that you can't accept.

"What I was very impressed by was how he admitted his wrongdoings and he didn't hide away from it, or make an excuse.

"He took it in a certain way and I think the punishment from the football club is right.

"Some people will deem the punishment harsh, others will see it as extremely fair.

"People will look at how MK Dons conducted themselves and I think it was impeccable how quickly we moved and how he took the punishment like a man.

"He can learn valuable lessons and it was an uncomfortable place for him to be.

"I've seen the disappointment and sadness in his eyes and how remorseful he was for what he's done."

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Bedford, Milton Keynes &

Leighton Buzzard areas and manager Stephen Moon agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Stephen a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Ricky's tribute to friend Tony

TRIBUTES have been paid to homeless man Tony Porter at a memorial service and candlelit vigil. The service was held at the Church of Christ the Cornerstone on Thursday and the vigil outside Milton Keynes Central on Sunday also paid tribute to Patrick Allen, who was also known to the homeless community. Ricky Oates, who organised the vigil, said: "This is the start of getting a campaign going in Tony's memory to stop more homeless people dying on the streets."

Allow homeless in old buildings

BY PHILIP MCELENEY
philip.mceleney@onemk.co.uk

A COUNCILLOR has urged owners of disused buildings in CMK to allow the homeless to shelter there.

Cllr Chris Williams, who chaired MK Council's homelessness task and finish group, has asked for help as the authority looks for solutions to the city's growing homeless problem.

He has asked building owners to contact him and help provide space for shelter and the establishment of an 'umbrella organisation' that would organise homeless charities and groups.

The disused Sainsbury's in CMK won't be used, but Cllr Williams feels securing shelter before next winter is crucial. "Quite frankly, we can't have another tragedy. We have got to work together to prevent that kind of thing happening again," he said.

Securing a property is the starting point for the council's plans.

Cllr Williams added: "As important as it is to find a building for shelter, that's a temporary solution and we have to find permanent ones."

Should these buildings be used for the homeless? letters@onemk.co.uk

Budget highlights – Pensions survive.....for now

After all the pre-budget rumours that George Osborne was going to remove pension tax relief, last Wednesday was pretty quiet as far as pensions were concerned.

The Chancellor confirmed there would be no imminent changes to pension tax relief. Salary sacrifice is also here to stay as it was confirmed that it could continue to be a tax and national insurance efficient option to fund a pension.

The big highlight of the budget as far as your personal finances are concerned was the introduction of a new Lifetime ISA (LISA). The Chancellor promoted this as a complimentary savings scheme for younger savers rather than an alternative to pensions. But is this the start of a move to an eventual Pension ISA, replacing existing traditional pensions? Time will tell.

Carl Roberts,
Director,
Wealth & Tax Management

The new LISA will be launched from April 2017 and will allow savers aged between 18 and 40 to save up to £4,000 per year. The government will add a 25% bonus to your savings pot. Which you can then use from age 60 as a tax free income or you can access it earlier in order to buy a house. The downside to accessing it before age 60 if you are not buying a house is a 5% penalty.

In other good news, the rate of Capital Gains Tax (CGT) is reducing from 18% to 10% for basic rate tax payers and from 28% to 20% for higher rate tax payers from the 6th April 2016.

Don't forget, regardless of the budget, we already know there are a number tax changes for pensions, high earners, BTL landlords and share/fund investors coming into force on 6th April 2016. To find out more download our free budget guide at www.wealthandtax.co.uk/budget-2016-planning.html.

We work with business executives aged 45+ who are ready to take their life and career by the scruff of the neck. We are also offering a free pensions and retirement assessment worth £270 to the first 10 people who contact us before 8th April 2016. Terms and conditions apply.

Pack on legal highs planned for schools

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@onemk.co.uk

IT WAS standing room only at an information evening on Thursday, organised as part of a campaign to educate residents about legal highs.

The event, organised by MK College, police, city MPs, Milton Keynes Council, Compass and OneMK, was held as part of the Not-So-Legal Highs campaign, which was launched earlier this month.

After talks from police and the drugs advice service Compass, residents called for more to be done in schools.

Detective Inspector Ian Jarvis and Jo O'Connor, assistant director at Compass, said they are developing a pack that can be sent to schools across the city, which has already been trialed at Shenley Brook End School.

Miss O'Connor added: "Some schools fear that if they let us do a talk at their school it gives the impression there is a drug problem there, but we actually want to reach out and educate, which is why we are developing this pack."

Presentation: Detective Inspector Ian Jarvis spoke at the event

The Psychoactive Substances Act is due to come into force in April, making the use of legal highs, also known as New Psychoactive Substances (NPS), illegal.

The Government and drugs advisors are currently investigating whether poppers should be included because they have little impact on the brain.

Overall the Act hopes to stop the use of legal highs among young people.

As previously reported, the Not-So-Legal Highs campaign aims to raise awareness about the Act and where people can go for help.

Iain Stewart, MP for MK South, said: "A resident told me how their teenager, who had been a high achiever at school, had started taking legal highs and then harder illegal drugs. This Act will help others to not fall into this trap."

MP for MK North Mark Lancaster added: "The Act is being carefully drawn up and is not to criminalise our young people."

You could make a difference to a child or young person's life

Milton Keynes Council is keen to recruit people who can offer a safe and loving home for a child/young person in care. We are especially seeking carers for teenagers. As a Milton Keynes Council foster carer you will be provided with a generous allowance plus support and training.

Our foster carers come from all walks of life and across a diverse community. They offer children and young people a nurturing, caring home environment where they can begin to thrive and reach their full potential.

It's a challenging role; one which will always ask for a great deal of input and support from you. However in providing a home to a child/young person who is unable to live with their family for a period of time you will be creating a wonderful experience for everyone involved.

Paying the price of parking charge rise

BY SCOTT KIRK & PHIL MCELENEY
 editor@onemk.co.uk

MARKET traders in the city centre say they are fed up with the drop in trade since Milton Keynes Council put up car park prices.

Charges outside the Food Hall and next to the outdoor market went up from 50p an hour to £2 an hour at the end of last year, with many citing the price rise as the reason for fewer customers.

Mark West, who has run the Games Machine stall for 27 years, said his year-on-year takings for the beginning of March had gone down by 50 per cent.

"The council doesn't seem to care about market traders," he said.

"The car parking charges have really affected things. I'm seriously considering going somewhere else as I'm struggling to meet my daily rates."

Gary Eaton, who owns The Phone Doctor store, said takings for him had gone down by as much as 40 per cent at the weekend and between 25 and 30 per cent

Game over?: Mark West, who owns the Games Machine stall at the market in the city centre, is thinking about trading elsewhere during the week and also blamed the hike in parking charges.

"The changes have made a big difference - cheap parking around here is pretty much non-existent."

Traders also criticised the fact the nearby car park was often nearly empty.

Linda Inoki, founder of the campaign group Xplain, said: "Elderly people and those with children need a convenient parking space to use the market."

She spoke out about the issue at a Milton Keynes Council meeting last Monday.

At the meeting, Cllr Matt Clifton, cabinet member responsible for economic growth and inward investment, said that the decision to increase the price of the bays was a temporary one that would be under review.

College chefs are

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

MILTON Keynes College has the recipe for success when it comes to training chefs.

In fact it is struggling to keep up with the demand from employers wanting to take on its students.

Programme manager Tony Oxley told OneMK the college is providing top-quality chefs at a time when the industry is suffering from a national shortage.

"More people want to take students on than we have here!" he said.

Students training at the college's restaurant The Brasserie, based at its campus in Sherwood Drive, Bletchley, have been whipping up interest after picking up awards.

Last month three of them won the Zest Quest Asia competition for Asian cooking, receiving the prize of a culinary experience in Bangkok, Thailand.

The Brasserie has also won a Milton Keynes Business Achievement Award for hospitality and has been awarded the renowned AA College Rosette.

Students have been on work placements at Michelin-star restaurants, including Nico Baker, from Furzton, who met Raymond Blanc at the Brasserie Blanc in Milton Keynes and has a full-time job lined up at La Tasca in Xscape when his course finishes.

"The course has been a really big experience because I wasn't really academic at school," said Nico, 19.

On Friday, students provided 120 canapes for a private function held by the mayor Keith McLean.

Restaurant manager Sarah King said: "We don't call ourselves a training restaurant because we are commercial and hold external events. We're open to the public and we run at a professional level."

She added a laundry room has been transformed into the Brasserie Express, which serves food from a hatch that would otherwise have gone to waste in the main kitchen.

Show love for MK

BY JESSICA DUNCAN

jessica.duncan@onemk.co.uk

THE fourth #LoveMK Day will be held next month and Destination Milton Keynes is urging more people to get involved.

The official tourism organisation for MK is gearing up for the annual #LoveMK day on Thursday, April 28.

The aim of the day is not only to promote Milton Keynes as a leisure and business destination, but also to harness the pride that many people have in the city.

The visitor economy is worth more than £200million to the area and by encouraging the MK community to get involved in promoting the city, the benefits could be even greater.

MK has already been put on the international map after hosting the Rugby World Cup last year and the city continues to attract visitors from far and wide.

The Stables recently announced the line up for the Milton Keynes International Festival (IF) in July and preparations are underway for the city's 50th anniversary in 2017.

Carys Underwood, marketing manager at Destination MK, said: "So many people got involved in last year's #LoveMK Day but we want to make it even bigger this year."

"We're hoping that once again the community will get behind us and get #LoveMK trending for the fourth year, not only to promote MK as a destination, but to show how much pride they have in the place they live and work in."

Footie fans make a splash for cash

BY JESSICA DUNCAN

jessica.duncan@onemk.co.uk

TWO MK Dons fans are about to embark on an epic journey to raise money for charity.

Next Thursday, Graham Durcan and Richard Nordsted, known as Radar and Bootsie, will be kayaking down the Grand Union Canal and into the Thames to raise vital funds Willen Hospice, which provides end of life care.

The Milton Keynes duo's destination is Craven Cottage, home of Fulham FC, where they hope to arrive on time for the Championship team's match against the Dons on Saturday, April 2.

Their journey will see them kayak 67 miles down the canal, going across 81 locks, and six miles of the Thames.

Graham said: "This trip is perhaps even more of a challenge than it sounds."

"While we are keen kayakers, we have never done anything like this distance before."

"We're both in our 50s, Richard has had surgery on

Fundraising friends: Willen Hospice staff help Graham Durcan and Richard Nordsted get ready for their kayaking challenge

just about every joint he'll use in this challenge and I have arthritis in mine, but we are training hard and passionate about the cause."

Dawn Clark, fundraising manager at Willen Hospice added: "We're absolutely thrilled that Radar and Bootsie are undertaking their fantastic challenge in aid of Willen Hospice."

"It has really captured the imagination of a lot of people and it's wonderful to see how much support they've already received."

"Willen Hospice needs to raise around £7 each and every minute of the year to provide our care and without incredible, dedicated, generous fundraisers like Radar and Bootsie, we simply couldn't do what we do."

They are hoping to raise £5,000 for the hospice.

I can hear an eco!: Milton Keynes mayor Keith McLean reads to children at New Chapter Primary School in Coffee Hall to celebrate the opening of its new extension, which includes all the latest environmental technologies to make it self-sufficient

School turns green

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

A SCHOOL'S expansion has included the latest environmental improvements, which means it will be able to heat itself.

The extension at New Chapter Primary School in Coffee Hall includes high levels of insulation and ensuring gaps are kept to a minimum to reduce air escaping.

Consideration has also been given to the orientation of the building and how much of it is in the shade so extra heating isn't needed.

"On top of this, materials we have used are sustainable," said Dominic Kramer, one of the architects at Morton, Wykes and Kramer, which has designed the building.

"It is 80 per cent timber and all the materials that have been used in the building are from renewable sources."

The extension includes a new reading room, two classrooms, staff room and kitchen, meeting room and a reprographics room.

David Hopkins, business director for the Milton Keynes

Education Trust, which New Chapter Primary School is a part of, said: "The new building is a statement of the commitment of staff and governors to the continued improvements in the standards of education."

"It's a sanctuary away from the hustle and bustle of school life and one that has freed up much-needed classroom space for learning."

"When staff are working in the new office or socialising in the new staff room or meeting room, it becomes easy to forget that you're in the middle of a busy school."

Have an Egg...cellent Easter

If you are looking for fun ways to fill the school holidays then try some of these weird and wonderful Easter traditions!

Egg Knocking

This tradition dates back to Louisiana in the 1950s. Competitors pair up and knock the tips of two eggs together. If the shell of your egg cracks you have to forfeit it, a process that continues until just one egg remains. The last one standing wins!

Egg Rolling

Egg rolling is a traditional game played at Easter. Different nations have different versions of the game, but it is usually played with hard-boiled, decorated eggs. In Lancashire there are still several annual egg rolling competitions at Holcombe Hill near Ramsbottom and Avenham Park in Preston.

Easter Egg Hunt

Every kid's favourite Easter game! Chocolate eggs are hidden by the 'Easter Bunny' and children must follow the clues to find them.

Easter Baskets

Making an Easter basket filled with treats and goodies for friends and family dates back hundreds of years. Why not let the kids make some for their friends filled with cookies, small toys and homemade cards.

Cascarones / Confetti Eggs

A Mexican Easter tradition that the kid's will love! Fill hollow, cleaned out, and decorated egg shells with confetti and then you throw them at other people on Easter Day. Although; a little messy, it is so much fun!

Easter Bonnet

A fancy hat worn as part of an ancient tradition of wearing new clothes at Easter. Make your own for the children by decorating a plain straw hat with ribbons, glitter, bows and stickers.

Taking up a sport is not only great for children's social skills but it offers a whole host of mental and physical benefits!

Taking up a sport helps children to get into the habit of doing regular exercise from a young age. A habit which will stay with them right into adulthood!

Training and learning the rules and techniques of a new sport can give a child self-discipline that they can employ both on and off the field.

Sports such as football, hockey, netball or basketball can teach children to trust and rely on others to achieve common goals and value everyone's individual strengths!

Taking part in a sport can greatly improve a child's sense of self-worth. Whether it is the satisfaction of scoring a goal or beating a personal best, sports-related exercise enables children to gain confidence in their skills.

Physical exercise strengthens the heart and bones, keeps arteries clear, reduces blood sugar levels, prevents obesity and improves energy levels!

In an era of excessive focus on our appearance, sport teaches children not focus on what their bodies look like but on what they can do!

Children who play sport receive encouragement and praise for their efforts. They learn that if they strive for improvement, they can achieve it. This can have a powerful and positive effect on their level of confidence in sport and life in general.

It is good for kids to learn that unfortunately, their team won't always win, and every call by the referee won't always seem fair. Dealing with disappointment will only make your youngsters stronger as they grow older!

In a world where computer screens and smartphones play such a big role in our every day lives- sports is a great way to get young people off the sofa and out into the fresh air!

Cracking fun at Easter egg hunts

IF YOU fancy getting in the Easter spirit and going on a hunt for delicious Easter eggs, then there are plenty of places to choose from this year.

At Milton Keynes Museum youngsters can search for hidden eggs that will unlock the way to chocolate rewards. Hunts will be held throughout Easter – which also marks the start of the Wolverton museum's summer opening hours, meaning visitors are welcome from Wednesday to Sunday between 11am and 4.30pm until the end of October.

The charity Emily's Star – which helps children with the genetic condition Trisomy 18 – will also be holding an Easter egg hunt. It takes place between 10am and 2pm on Friday at The Secret Garden in Wolverton.

You don't need to book and you can turn up at anytime during the four-hour event. Entry costs £3 per child and under ones go free.

Electric Social will be holding an Eggs-travaganza on Easter Sunday between noon and 6pm.

After dinner there will be an Easter egg hunt for children at 4pm. Book at info@electricsocial.com or call 03333 111 300.

An egg hunt will also be part of The Henry Allen Trust's The Big Easter Sunday Funday at The Galleon in Wolverton. A bouncy castle, music and face-painting will also be part of the free event from noon to 4pm. The trust – which is OneMK's charity of the year – will also be handing out the chocolate eggs it has been collecting to children over Easter.

actionsequel

GERARD Butler returns as reliable bodyguard and super soldier Mike Banning in London Has Fallen, sequel to 2013's Olympus Has Fallen.

This time round, Banning is thrust into action in London when President Benjamin Asher's (Aaron Eckhart) life is once again under serious threat when terrorists strike at the funeral of the Prime Minister.

Director Babak Najafi transfers the original's White House carnage across the pond and produces an entertaining action sequel.

A loose plot, clichéd quips and poor special effects mean it is not a movie for Oscar purists.

But for fans of the original, or those looking for a decent popcorn flick, London Has Fallen boasts the required combat and explosions to sustain your interest.

FROSTS Garden Centre's managing director James Frost shares his top gardening tips this month as plants begin to shoot in spring

gardeningtips

WITH lots of plants now starting to shoot in the garden, protect them from damage by slugs by either using traps or pellets.

When days get warmer keep an eye out for greenfly feeding on new young shoots, especially roses and clematis. These will need treating as soon as you see them with a contact pesticide.

New cottage perennials and summer flowering bulbs can be planted into the garden this month ready to give colour over the main summer period and into early autumn.

With those already established in the garden ensure you give them a top dressing of a general fertiliser such as Growmore or organic chicken pellets so that they have plenty of food for the spring.

In the vegetable garden you can start to plant onion and shallot sets if it's not too wet. It is also good to plant early potatoes and mound up the soil above them to protect the new shoots.

fauxfest

LOCAL band Silver Tongue Bandoliers will be one of several performing tributes at MKII's Faux Fest in Kiln Farm from Friday until Sunday.

At least the neighbours are quiet

DIY enthusiasts wanting a heavenly project could find salvation in this unconverted chapel.

It'll be a big job as there's currently no toilet, drains or electricity, while the location might also be a mixed blessing as there's a cemetery next door, where loved ones still have the right to visit graves.

It's got planning permission to be converted into a four-bedroom family home with two bath or shower rooms, a living room and kitchen/dining room. A strip of land around the chapel building could be used for parking and as a garden, while the graveyard will be maintained by the council.

Plenty of disused churches and chapels around the country have become restaurants, community centres or nightclubs, but most have been turned into homes. Estate agents are often preaching to the (nearly) converted as a survey by propertyfinder.com made churches – with their large spaces, natural light and distinctive original features – Britain's favourite conversion, even ahead of barns.

This one in Farnham, Surrey, is right next to Weydon School playing fields, on high ground with views of the surrounding countryside.

You reach the stone-built chapel through a pair of wrought iron gates and it boasts character features including stone mullion windows.

George Evans, a negotiator at Savills in Farnham, says the quirky property is thought to be Victorian and was used as a chapel until a few years ago. He said: "We've already had quite a bit of interest, including from people who would like to keep it as a place of worship."

It's on the market for £425,000

Downton Daisy's old London digs

FEISTY Sarah Bunting ruffled feathers as the idealistic, left-wing local teacher who wanted to bring social justice to TV's Downton in series four and five.

As widower Tom Branson's love interest, actress Daisy Lewis stirred up feelings of discontent below stairs with her 'modern' ideas that servants should be educated – something not too far removed from Lewis' early life.

She studied literature at King's College and once tutored students in Latin, Greek and English, and wrote for The Sunday Telegraph.

Before joining the cast on the award-winning period drama, Lewis, 30, had parts in Doctor Who and After You've Gone, but has also produced movies including a short film starring Charles Dance. She's currently dating Steve Coogan, 50, and the pair made their red carpet debut as a couple at a Halloween Ball last year.

The actress also has an eye for property; she shared a penthouse flat with her brother in London's Pimlico before moving into her own pad, an interest that evidently runs in the family as her father John is chairman of the Groucho Club and part owns the Sloane Square hotel.

He also transformed Cliveden from notorious stately home to luxury hotel.

The Lewis siblings' recently refurbished flat is now up for sale at £2.25m. The three double bedroom property in Warwick Square is set over the top three floors with views across London. It boasts a reception room, kitchen/dining room, three en-suite bedrooms and air con.

Final home of computing pioneer

scar nominee Benedict Cumberbatch's turn as Alan Turing in The Imitation Game bought the neglected computer science pioneer to the movie-going public's attention.

Although not well known during his lifetime, he's now recognised as an eccentric yet passionate British mathematician who conceived modern computing and played a crucial part in the Allied victory over Nazi Germany.

Turing joined other mathematicians at Bletchley Park, developing a new machine capable of breaking German Enigma messages on an industrial scale.

After the war he came up with a test – an 'imitation game' – to compare human and machines which formed the basis of studies into Artificial Intelligence.

Despite being a top Nazi code-cracker, an illegal homosexual affair led Turing to be chemically castrated and he committed suicide at the age of 41 in 1954 after eating an apple laced with cyanide.

He lived in this five-bed semi on the outskirts of Wilmslow in Cheshire while working at Manchester University during which time, according to a former owner, he often received visits from mathematicians and computer buffs wanting to pay homage.

Set over four floors – formerly known as Holly Mead – it's now available to let, part furnished for £3,700 a month.

Recently refurbished, it has three reception rooms, three bathrooms and landscaped gardens.

An open plan kitchen/dining/lounge has doors leading out on the garden and garden room, while the converted basement could be used as play or games rooms.

It comes complete with an historic blue plaque honouring Turing's achievements

HOT
GOSSIP

CORRECTION: In a recent Hot Property article, we stated that Wayne Rooney was selling his Barbados villa at Royal Westmoreland. But it's the whole resort, not just his property, that is being sold.

This green roof a growing fashion

PLENTY of homes have a greenhouse but how's this for a really green house?

Rather than forking out for endless energy bills, this modern four-bedroom semi has a grass roof and solar panels that are so cost-effective they even pay the owners an income.

Although having a roof you can mow is still unusual, it's a growing trend – literally. Living under a lawn is ecologically sound – and economical – after all, it was good enough for the Vikings when they lived in Scotland and Ireland.

Having a grass roof is supposed to reduce heating and heat loss, filter pollutants and carbon dioxide out of the air and help to insulate a building for sound.

Along with its grass roof, this property near East Grinstead in East Sussex has other great eco credentials.

Photo voltaic panels, which give the owners a recharge payment, along with under-floor heating throughout and individual thermostatic controls to heat the rooms independently.

The four-year-old house is all on one floor with a terrace at the back and steps up to the large grassed roof with glass and stainless steel balustrading. Its kitchen/dining room has doors onto a courtyard garden and leads into the lounge/sitting room, which also has doors to the garden.

The three principle rooms come with their own en-suite shower or bath room and two have direct access to the garden.

There's a timber-built office with light and power, another outbuilding which houses the meters, off-street parking for several vehicles and a double garage.

It's on the market for £895,000.

Famous pub is going for a song

IT MIGHT be more than a century old, but wartime marching tune It's A Long Way To Tipperary still rakes in cash from performances around the world and ringtones.

Although copyright usually expires 70 years after a composer's death, it continues to provide an income for Harry Williams' relatives, making it the longest-earning song in musical history.

Despite its Irish name, the homesick ballad started life in the heart of England composed by Williams with music hall entertainer Jack Judge in 1912. Within weeks the song's popularity had spread among the troops fighting the Germans and it became one of the First World War's defining symbols.

The song is thought to have been penned at this Warwickshire pub in Honiley, once called the Plough Inn and owned by Williams' parents; he bought the pub for them with the royalties and they changed its name to the Tipperary Inn.

Now this piece of musical history could be yours for £39,950 with a rent of £23,000 a year. It's still a popular place with regulars and tourists, some of whom make the trip from Tipperary in Ireland.

The pub boasts a big garden with wooden decking that can seat 60 and a large paddock which can be used as a marquee event space. It's got an open plan lounge bar and restaurant with commercial kitchen as well as three bedroom living accommodation.

Agent Guy Simmonds estimates turnover is about £300,000 per year including VAT.

(VARIOUS ROADS, SHENLEY WOOD)*(PROHIBITION OF WAITING) ORDER 2015

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the Borough of Milton Keynes proposes to make an Order under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984. The proposed Order will affect all classes of vehicles and have the following effect:

- The introduction of 'No Waiting at Any Time' restrictions along parts of Chalkdell Drive and Wildcare Road, Shenley Wood.

The proposed waiting restrictions come as a result of various requests to improve public safety along those parts of Chalkdell Drive and Wildcare Road. The requests have been made as a result of inconsiderate parking which is causing obstruction and road safety concerns to other road users.

The implementation of the waiting restrictions will remove the dangerous and obstructive parking and maintain a safe and free flow of traffic, particularly for emergency vehicles and buses using the roads.

Exemptions from the proposed Order include emergency service vehicles, military vehicles, statutory undertakers, building, demolition and excavation and disabled persons badge holders.

A copy of the proposed Order together with a map showing the areas referred to along with a statement of reason for proposing the Orders, may be inspected during opening hours at Milton Keynes Library, 555 Silbury Boulevard, Central Milton Keynes, and during normal office hours at Milton Keynes Council, Civic Offices, 1 Saxon Gate East, Milton Keynes.

Any objections to the proposals, together with the grounds on which they are made, must be made in writing and sent to the Network TRO Manager, Highways Department, Public Realm Services Group, Synergy Park, Chesney Wold, Bleak Hall, Milton Keynes, MK6 1LY to be received no later than 13th April 2016 quoting reference PH-51-TRO-145.

Introducing SEAT's New-Look Ibiza Cupra Range

Twenty years on from the birth of its iconic CUPRA performance arm, which all started with an Ibiza, SEAT has confirmed UK pricing and specification for the latest version of its pocket rocket. Among several key changes for the New Ibiza CUPRA are a new two-tier range, plus a raft of technical enhancements including a new engine with even more power and torque, plus the small matter of the reintroduction of a manual gearbox.

The New Ibiza CUPRA shows the essence of the SEAT brand in its purest form – emotional design, outstanding performance and state-of-the-art technology, combined to create one of the most dynamic and enjoyable hot superminis to live with.

Exclusively available in the SC (Sports Coupé) bodystyle, the new-look UK Ibiza CUPRA line-up will be available in two versions. Kicking things off is the standard CUPRA for £18,100, £880 less than the previous model (with DSG transmission), rising to £18,900 for CUPRA Black, which is expected to be the best-selling version.

Among a series of changes with the New Ibiza CUPRA, arguably the two most telling are the switch to a six-speed manual gearbox, plus, a new, even more potent engine. In relation to the former, where 80% of the UK hot supermini class is stick shift-based, SEAT will be looking to make significant inroads.

On top of these alterations come larger front brakes, plus CUPRA Drive Profile with adjustable damping and steering, offering two modes, Comfort and Sport.

Powering the halo model in the Ibiza line-up is a completely new engine. Out goes the previous supercharged

1.4, replaced by a 1.8 TSI pushing out an additional 12 PS, and crucially, a hefty dose of 70Nm additional torque, up to 320Nm, across a much broader rev range of 1,450 to 4,250 rpm. Performance is impressive with zero to 62 mph dispatched in just 6.7 seconds, before heading on to a top speed of 146 mph. At the same time, its potency doesn't come at the expense of frugality, with fuel

The new Ibiza CUPRA has a powerful and edgy stance, with the three-door Sports Coupé brought to life by sharply executed lines and edges. The accentuated rear shoulders and exclusive 17-inch alloy wheels also underline its performance. The high-gloss black door mirrors and front grille frame set a clear contrast to the Ibiza CUPRA's paintwork, while at the rear its broad bumper frames a substantial matt-black diffuser which incorporates the race-honed central exhaust tailpipe. Emoción Red is the standard free-of-charge paint choice.

The upgrades continue on the inside, with the latest Ibiza CUPRA taking a series of styling cues from its bigger brother, Leon. It comes a much higher quality interior, with more premium and tactile touches including a new steering wheel, air vents, instrument panel and infotainment systems.

As well as the series of improvements under the skin, the New Ibiza CUPRA also ushers in several new items of equipment, including a five-inch Media System with colour touchscreen and DAB digital radio, Bluetooth® audio streaming and hands-free system, plus multi-function steering Wheel. In keeping with SEAT's safety expertise, Hill Hold Control and Tiredness Recognition System have also been added to its long list of core equipment. Equipment on both versions is lavish. The standard CUPRA proffers 17-inch 'Barcino' alloy wheels, auto lights and wipers, XDS electronic differential lock, CUPRA front sports seats, electrically adjustable, heated and folding door mirrors, plus climate control and cruise control. On the outside, the entry point to SEAT's CUPRA line-up is immediately distinguishable through bi-xenon headlights with cornering lights and LED daytime running lights and LED rear lights, plus tinted glass on the side and rear windows.

Moving up to the range-topping, and likely UK best-selling version, CUPRA Black, brings with it a whole host of styling and technology additions. Costing £800 more than the standard CUPRA, but offering around £1,000 worth of additional equipment, for an even sportier and striking look, it welcomes black alloy wheels with red brake calipers. It also benefits from a Navigation System with 6.5-inch colour touchscreen, 3D map display, voice recognition and two SD card slots.

Unsurprisingly, given the generous standard equipment list for both versions of the New Ibiza CUPRA, buyers won't need to be ticking every box in the options list with wild abandon. However, for those seeking the ultimate in comfort, style and technology, there are several tempting items available. Among them for CUPRA are SEAT Sound which proffers six high-quality speakers, a boot mounted subwoofer and an amplifier for £155, as well as Navigation System (includes Media System Plus with 6.5-inch colour touchscreen with proximity sensor, MP3 compatible CD player and Bluetooth™ voice recognition) at £580 and Full Link for an enticing £145.

Taking the cabin ambience even higher on both versions are three upmarket additions; sporty Alcantara upholstery for £400, a panoramic glass sunroof at £495, together with ambient interior lighting for only £60. All prices quoted include VAT.

Volkswagen Touran

TOUR LEADER

Volkswagen's improved third generation Touran is designed to compete with the best that the compact 7-seater MPV class can offer. Underpinnings from a Golf hatch bring with them highly efficient engines that complement neat design and general quality that can't be bettered in the Scenic and C-MAX sector.

As the demand for MPVs has grown, so has the demand that they drive more like 'normal' cars. The Touran has always been relatively good dynamically but more will be expected of this model, which is longer, wider, lighter than its predecessors and comes equipped with a range of petrol and diesel engines that are more powerful.

Buyers get a choice of five Euro6 engine variants - two petrol and three diesel. All are four-cylinder direct injection units with turbocharging. The 1.2-litre and 1.4-litre petrol TSI powerplants develop 110PS, 150PS and 180PS respectively, so are around 5 to 10PS more powerful than their predecessors. The diesel engine range starts with a 1.6-litre 110PS unit, plus there's a 2.0-litre powerplant with 150PS and 190PS options. The fastest diesel comes only with a DSG auto gearbox and this auto transmission is optional with other engines beyond the entry-level 1.2-litre petrol unit.

Volkswagen hopes these refined engines will make this Touran one of the most agile MPVs on the market. In the driver's seat, the steering column has been pitched at a slightly flatter angle to the dash and the steering wheel is more upright for a sportier feel. The dash panel has also been redesigned with a more driver-oriented layout.

From the outside, this model is still unmistakably a Touran but, due to its longer wheelbase, it now looks sleeker and sharper. At the front, the slim lower breather opening accentuates this MPV's width and low centre of gravity. Below the side windows is a contoured shoulder line starting above the front wheel arch which also emphasises its length. Long side windows add to what Volkswagen hopes is a light, sporty appearance.

This MK3 model Touran is the first MPV the brand has based upon its Modular Transverse Matrix chassis, which allows a larger wheelbase and extra room inside. You notice this in the 743-litre luggage bay - which can be increased to 1,980-litres with the seats folded: it's the biggest in its class, making this an ideal family MPV. The passenger aspect of the interior has been completely restyled. Its strongest selling point is the second row seats which can now be folded flat with the luggage compartment floor. That family-friendliness is added to by no fewer than 47 storage compartments.

The Touran has already established a strong following amongst growing families. All it really needed was a little more of a spark, both in way it looked and performed. This improved third generation version is about as far as Volkswagen is prepared to go in that direction, with sharper looks, even higher quality and a range of more efficient engines.

Will it be enough? Maybe not to shift this car's appeal too far from those who would have bought one anyway but it remains the quality choice at the upper end of the compact 7-seater MPV sector - and a surprisingly affordable one. It's not an avant garde option but it's a stylishly safe one - and there's a lot to be said for that.

THE NEW MINI ONE D CLUBMAN

Following the successful UK market launch of the MINI Clubman in October 2015, and the recent announcement of the MINI Clubman ALL4, MINI UK is adding a new model to the range – the MINI One D Clubman. Retaining the high specification offered across the MINI Clubman range, including MINI Navigation, DAB, Bluetooth, Cruise control and MINI Connected on every car, the new MINI One D Clubman will be of particular interest to fleet and business customers, with this latest model emitting 99g/km* CO2 on the combined cycle. As such, company car drivers will benefit from a low BiK rate of 17% on the MINI One D Clubman in the 2015-16 tax year. The car's much-loved signature design feature, its split rear doors, are retained on this model.

Grant to keep on top of pitches

Green green grass: A £10,000 grant has allowed Woburn and Wavendon FC to purchase cutting equipment

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

WOBURN and Wavendon FC has received an award of £10,000 as part of the Sport England Small Grants Programme.

The money has already part-funded the purchase of grass cutting and aeration equipment, together with a trailer to transport the equipment between four of the club's six playing locations at Woburn, Wavendon, Little Brickhill and Ridgmont.

"This is a highly significant award for the club," said chairman Ian Doggett.

"It allows us to not only improve the quality of our playing surfaces but also to reduce our running costs.

"In addition, every June and July, the trailer will be used to transport goals from our various other playing locations to Woburn where both our boys tournament, which is now in its 33rd year, and girls tournament, which is one of England's largest, are held."

The tournaments are of vital importance to the club's sustainability and improving the quality of the pitch at Woburn is significant in reducing the risk of postponement of tournaments and other matches due to adverse weather conditions.

Mr Doggett added: "We anticipate that the net effect will reduce any kind of match and training cancellations as well as allow us to divert more investment into participation at all levels. This is something that is key for both Woburn and Wavendon FC as well as Sport England."

Vice chairman of Woburn and Wavendon FC Robert Hill added: "This is very significant for the club."

The money isn't the first grant that has been awarded to the club over the past few years.

Ben Shephard, ITV's Ninja Warrior and Sky Sports' Goals on Sunday presenter, spoke of his delight last year after grassroots football in Milton Keynes and West Bedfordshire received a £4,500 boost in the form of a Grow the Game grant from the Football Foundation, the country's largest sports charity.

The grant was given to allow Woburn and Wavendon FC to grow one U18 girls 'Lioness' team and one U17 boys 'Lions' team.

And the year before that, Wavendon Recreation Ground was renovated after 90 years of bumps were put to bed when the pitch was flattened.

A major levelling and reseeded project was carried out by Frosts Garden Centre and funded by WREN (Waste Recycling Environmental Limited), a not-for-profit business that awarded a £7,000 grant from the Landfill Communities Fund to make sure the pitch was flat.

RUGBY UNION

MK keep up pressure on Gosford All Blacks

MILTON Keynes were keen to put a defeat to Berks, Bucks and Oxon Premier Division title challengers Gosford All Blacks to bed when they travelled to Alchester.

Brian Purcell's three penalties got MK off to a 9-0 lead before Dan Pearson scored a converted try. Purcell added another penalty before half time to make it 19-0 at the interval. Another try from Pearson and ones from Rob Matthews and Tim Parkinson, as well as penalties, helped MK to a 41-19 win.

The victory keeps them second in the league and they are nine points behind the All Blacks.

Olney lost 57-7 to Belgrave in Midlands Two East (South) but their U17 team is through to the Midlands Final and the last eight of the National Cup after they beat Tamworth 17-15. Their U12 team won the Long Buckby Festival for the second year running while the ladies team maintained their stranglehold at the top of the league with a 29-7 victory over Lutterworth.

Bletchley picked up a narrow 12-10 win over second from bottom Drifters in the Southern Counties North division. They are seventh in the league.

Criticism of qualifying but Ricciardo enjoys home GP

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

RED Bull Racing team principal Christian Horner has criticised the new format for qualifying, which has subsequently been dropped by Formula One bosses.

A new format where the slowest driver was eliminated every 90 seconds was meant to reinvigorate the qualifying process. It was introduced to try and stop Mercedes from dominating, which is what they did on Saturdays last season.

But instead fans were faced with an empty track for the last five minutes of qualifying, as drivers weren't given enough time to get their qualifying laps in, meaning teams were happy to sit in the pits and settle for the places they were already in.

"For me, this new qualifying system did not work and we apologise to the fans," said Horner.

"We have not put on a show for them at all, which is a shame, especially for the first race of the season.

"It's not good for qualifying to be done with five minutes to go, drivers need to be out on track fighting for pole up until the last second.

"We should accept that we tried it, it didn't work and the important thing is we learn from it and address it quickly. "Qualifying needs to build up to a crescendo, not what we saw here."

It meant that Daniil Kvyat qualified 18th and Daniel Ricciardo was eighth, but the former did not even start the race because of an electronic issue. He also didn't start the race last year.

Home comforts: Daniel Ricciardo finished fourth in his home Grand Prix in Melbourne

But at his home grand prix, Ricciardo had a much better day and he will have been pleased to finish fourth.

"Today was fun for me - it was so good to be back racing," said Ricciardo.

"I came on the radio more than once expressing my joy to just being out there competing. That joy was emphasized by having a good car underneath me. It was fun to be able to pass cars, I was enjoying that as always.

"Fourth is still a good result and I'm happy we're not that far off Mercedes and Ferrari."

Horner said: "It was a great drive from Daniel at his home race, he drove a competitive race from start to finish. "It's encouraging to see the pace of the car in race trim.

"It's a shame that Dany wasn't able to start the race today, he seems to be cursed here in Melbourne but he'll be back."

The next Grand Prix takes place in Bahrain on Sunday, April 3.

Double win as Lightning get ready for playoffs

MK LIGHTNING go into the English Premier League play-off quarter finals this weekend buoyed by their first four point weekend since mid-January.

Lightning finished the campaign with a hard-fought 3-2 victory over league champions Basingstoke Bison on Saturday before a 4-2 win at Hull Pirates on Sunday.

Lightning will face Telford Tigers at home on Saturday and away on Sunday in the play-offs with a place at the Coventry finals at stake the weekend after.

The encounter with Bison was an ill-tempered affair. The visiting side were strangely unconcerned by the prospect of picking up injuries and engaged in rough stuff which cost them Aaron Connolly, who went to hospital with suspected concussion and a possible broken foot after taking a hit from Martti Jarventie.

Jordan Cownie scored from a powerplay to put Lightning in front in a bad-tempered affair but Joe Greener equalised for Bison in the first session and it was still 1-1 at the end of the second period.

Glenn Billing helped Lightning hit the front after 47 minutes before Lewis Hook made it 3-1 and a late mistake from Dean Skinnis was irrelevant as Lightning won.

The following day at Hull Pirates

Lightning took the lead 14 seconds through Blaz Emersic.

Hook increased the score to 2-0 until Pirates were given a glimmer of hope a minute into the final period with a goal.

Leigh Jamieson bagged their third after 45 minutes. Hull brought one back but Jamieson finished the game off with a minute left to make it 4-2.

Appeal over McFadzean red card lost

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

MK DONS have been unsuccessful in their appeal to overturn Kyle McFadzean's three-match ban.

The centre back was given a straight red card for an alleged elbow on Brighton's Tomer Hemed in the 2-1 defeat on Saturday – a decision that looked very harsh to many observers.

McFadzean will now miss crucial matches at Fulham and at home to Wolves and Rotherham United as Dons fight to stay in the Championship.

With Joe Walsh injured, Jordan Spence is the man who is likely to fill the void left by McFadzean.

"I've watched hundreds of games in my life and I've never seen anyone be sent off or booked for what he got sent off for," said boss Karl Robinson.

"The whole thing is baffling to me." Dons don't have a game this weekend as there is an international break, with Jonny Williams called up to the Wales squad and Cody Cropper in the USA U23 outfit.

After a very tough week for Dons both on and off the pitch, Robinson says the international break is very welcome.

"I think it's a great time for the international break," he said.

"It allows us to train, to laugh, joke, smile and allows us to be us.

"We work so hard at this place and we need to get the right rest and training to allow our players to come back with the correct frame of mind to compete to stay at this level."
